

Herman T. Lange House

930 Third Avenue
1901, Queen Anne

Herman T. Lange was President of the H.T. Lange Company, which was a wholesale grocery and fruit business that was located at 202 Graham Avenue. Lange also was on the board of directors for the Union National Bank (presently U.S. Bank) and served in the Wisconsin State Senate from 1921 to 1929.

The Lange House is a significant example of the Queen Anne style and is distinguished by the partially enclosed gables, bay windows and a classically inspired veranda featuring dentils and paired columns. In addition, it is unique with its steeply pitched roof gables with pointed arch openings and transoms above the doors and windows, which are made from cut glass and stained glass.
